Financial Incentives for Historic Preservation Work

FEDERAL REHABILITATION INVESTMENT TAX CREDITS

The federal tax credits reduce the amount of federal tax owed by owners whose buildings have been rehabilitated to meet certain criteria.

- Federal Rehabilitation Investment Tax Credits (ITC) are applied to an owner’s federal taxes owed or to future tax liabilities.
- The credit typically is worth a percentage of the cost of the renovation.
- The Passive Activity Limitations, the Alternative Minimum Tax, and the At-Risk Rules all affect the amount of credit an individual can claim in one year.
- Eligible owners may be individuals or businesses and must pay federal income taxes.
- Approximately $9,000 is the maximum credit any one individual can claim in any one year. Larger credit amounts, however, can be divided up and carried to other years.

20% Rehabilitation Tax Credit for Historic Buildings

This incentive reduces the building owners’ federal income taxes by 20% of the project’s budget. This program is only for income-producing depreciable property including: properties rehabilitated for commercial, agricultural, industrial, and rental residential. Owner-occupied housing is not eligible.

Building must be a certified historic structure:
- Listed on the National Register (individually or contributing to a National Register district); or
- A contributing building within a local historic district certified by the NPS for the tax credits.
- Individually listed local landmarks are not eligible.

Project must be certified by the NPS to meet the Secretary of the Interior’s Standards for Rehabilitation.
- Requires the preservation the existing significant historic features and materials.
- Does not require restoring a building or its features to their original appearance.
- Non-historic features may be removed or retained, if desired.
- New, compatible alterations or additions may be added.
- New additions outside the existing building envelope cannot be claimed for the credit.

Owner must spend more than $5,000 during a 24-month period. Owners may qualify for a 60-month phased project, but it requires more up-front planning.

Eligible rehabilitation expenditures may include:
- Architectural and construction costs on the historic building.
- Soft costs that are depreciable rather than taken as a one-time expense: Architectural and Engineering fees, survey, legal, development fees, construction-related costs.

Ineligible expenditures include acquisition, furnishings, new additions, or landscape or site improvements. It is strongly recommended that applications be filed before work begins to avoid costly mistakes or possible denial.

This program reduces the building owners’ federal income taxes by 10% of the project’s budget.

- Receive a credit of 10% of the amount spent to rehab a ‘non-historic’ building built before 1936.
- Buildings that are not listed on the National Register are eligible.
- Income-producing residential (i.e., apartments) and owner-occupied housing are not eligible.
- Owner must spend more than $5,000 during a 24-month period.
- Eligible expenditures may include:
  - Architectural and construction costs on the historic building.
  - Soft costs that are depreciable rather than taken as a one-time expense: Architectural and Engineering fees, survey, legal, development fees, construction-related costs.
- Ineligible expenditures include acquisition, furnishings, new additions, or landscape or site improvements.

Preservation Easements

A preservation easement is a voluntary legal agreement between a property owner and a preservation organization to preserve and protect all open-air sides of a historic structure. Under current tax laws, an easement donation may qualify as a charitable contribution, with federal income-tax benefits, based on the value of the easement, as determined by a qualified appraiser.

• Building must be a certified historic structure:
  o individually listed on the National Register of Historic Places;
  o a contributing property within a National Register Historic District;
  o a contributing property within a local historic district that has been certified by the National Park Service.
  o Individually listed local landmarks are not eligible.
• The easement is granted in perpetuity and recorded against the deed.
• The portion of the building property rights that are donated are monitored and protected by the preservation organization. The owner seeks approval from the easement holder prior to construction.
• At the time of donation, the donor also gives a one-time, tax-deductible charitable contribution to assist with the costs of monitoring and defending the easement in perpetuity.
• Owners taking the federal tax credit must wait until the 5-year recapture period has elapsed before pursuing an easement donation.

There is one grant round per year on February 1, with an additional round on June 1 and October 1, depending on the availability of funding. The Preservation Fund application is available online.

Johanna Favrot Fund for Historic Preservation: Provides non-profit organizations and public agencies matching grants ranging from $2,500 to $10,000 for projects that contribute to the preservation or the recapture of an authentic sense of place.
